GoodWe earns New ISO Certifications for Information Security and Service Management

GoodWe has announced that it has obtained ISO/IEC 27701:2019 and ISO/IEC 20000-1:2018 certifications, further reinforcing its commitment to information security, data privacy, and high-quality service delivery.
The company had previously obtained ISO/IEC 27001:2022 certification for its Information Security Management System, a globally recognised standard that ensures the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of information.

Building on this strong foundation, ISO/IEC 27701:2019 extends the framework to privacy information management by providing a structured approach to managing and protecting personally identifiable information. It also supports compliance with global privacy regulations, including alignment with the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which is widely considered a benchmark for data protection worldwide.

Comply Raises the Bar for RegTech with Global ISO/IEC 27001 Security Certification

Comply has announced its achievement of one of the most recognized certifications for information security management systems (ISMS), the ISO/IEC 27001 certification.

This certification demonstrates that the firm has implemented and independently audited controls to protect the confidentiality, availability, and integrity of client and regulatory data across all its internal operations and cloud infrastructure.

The certification ensures that operations and governance frameworks are not merely treated as paperwork but are embedded in the entire technology infrastructure of the firm.

The ISO/IEC 27001 certification requires formalized controls and rigorous risk assessment. ISMS has reinforced Comply's position as a globally trusted RegTech provider. It raised the bar and helped Comply align itself with the expectations of clients and regulators.

CrowdStrike's Falcon Platform Now ISO 42001 Certified for Trusted AI

CrowdStrike has announced its certification to ISO/IEC 42001:2023. It is the world's first international standard for AI management systems, covering the design, development, and operation of AI-driven cybersecurity capabilities. ISO/IEC 42001 certification covers key components of the CrowdStrike Falcon platform, including Endpoint Security, Falcon Insight XDR, and the Charlotte AI security assistant. ISO 42001 provides a globally recognised framework for responsible AI governance as regulatory oversight and enterprise adoption continue to grow.

Michael Sentonas, president of CrowdStrike, said in a statement, "CrowdStrike is among the first cyber security companies to achieve ISO 42001 certification, the world's first AI management system standard,"
"For a cyber security vendor, responsible AI governance is foundational. This certification validates the maturity, discipline, and leadership behind how we develop and operate AI across the Falcon platform."
